"I couldn't be happier," says Mark MacDonald when describing his Toebben-built home in Villa Hills, Kentucky. The construction of the 4,000+ square foot landminium for Mark and his wife Dee was personally supervised by John Toebben from day one.

"John's a great guy, easy to get along with and easy to get a hold of," says Mark. "Together we came up with a number of good ideas that made our home even better. It was definitely refreshing to deal directly with the person who has the ultimate authority."

"We saw one of John's homes at a Cavalcade Show and we just kept coming back," continues Mark. "The quality of his wood and stain work is impressive. In reality, John's only competition is the resale of homes that he's already built!"

You can't beat the beauty of a home you love, especially one built by John Toebben. See his new luxury landminium in Squire Valley at the Cavalcade of Homes Show or stop by to tour this model home any Sunday from noon - 5 PM.
