

It's all in a name

Debbie Teepe, owner of EmbroidMe at High Street Center in Crescent Springs, KY

Debbie Teepe believes that to succeed, a business needs to get its name out where it can be seen. That's not just because she owns a business that embroiders logos on sports and corporate apparel. Debbie sought a location for her company "EmbroidMe" that would get HER name out there. And she found that ideal address - with Toebben Company's High Street Center in Crescent Springs, KY.

"This is a first class center," says Debbie, "absolutely beautiful. Although it seemed like a no-brainer when this space came up, our corporate office confirmed it was a good choice. They found the traffic count to be over 70,000 vehicles a day."

And how was Toebben to work with?

"Professional but not stuffy," describes Debbie. "They really made everything come together exactly as I desired. From the receptionist to the crew to the owner himself, it's easy to see how Toebben earned their reputation for quality."

Sounds like it's all in a name! If you'd like a location that gets your name out there, call Toebben today for this and other great commercial/retail or industrial sites.
