John Simms, Ryan Atkinson, and JD Kermode outside their law office at Toeppen's Fifth Street Center in Covington, KY

When the law firm of Atkinson, Simms & Kermode was expanding its bankruptcy business from Lexington into the Northern Kentucky area, the owners wanted a place that was low maintenance and convenient to the Kenton County Courthouse. With Toeppen Companies' Fifth Street Center they got all that and more!

"We have our own building in Lexington," John Simms explains, "but we decided leasing would be the best idea for this expansion. Toeppen's Fifth Street Center offered very affordable square footage, it's convenient to I75/71 and just three blocks from the courthouse. Plus you can't beat the free parking!"

John and his partners also appreciated how easy it was to have Toeppen set up the office space.

"They're a really nice group of people to work with," says John.
