

History of value

Mark Morgan, Mike Williams, and Sherrill Morgan enjoy the view of Cincinnati without having to be there.

When the grade school on Fifth and Philadelphia Streets in Covington merged with another elementary in 1981, Matth Toebben of Toebben Companies saw an opportunity. When Toebben renovated the school as the new Fifth Street Center, Sherrill Morgan of Sherrill Morgan, Inc. saw an opportunity, too. Sherrill became one of the first tenants in the executive office building.

"We were in downtown Cincinnati but decided to move to Kentucky," explains Sherrill. "A risky move to some but it's proven a wise choice. As an independent insurance brokerage firm we have vendors and clients coming to us from several states. They love the convenience."

Associates Mark Morgan and Mike Williams agree that the location, and the free parking, is great. A recent office remodel by Toebben was also a success.

"They refinished the original red oak parquet floors and did an exceptional job," says Mike.

"Toebben has a history of keeping their promises," adds Mark, "they're good business people."
